

1) Poster Presentation

While reading the book, the student will create a large picture of his or her main character on poster board or poster paper. Within, different areas of the characters body the student will write or word process the elements of the story. On or near the head will be the theme of the story. The feet should contain the setting. The hand will include the problem and solution. The chest will include character personality traits (energetic, devious, mean-spirited etc.). The student can then use the poster to guide his or her presentation. I have samples of this report style in the classroom closet.
